2020 Revenue Guidance Withdrawn Temporarily - COVID-19 has adversely affected the global economy and normal business activities. Our Bolivian operations have been temporarily closed due to a nationwide quarantine, workplace restrictions and travel bans since March 21, 2020. We anticipate business operations will re-open prior to the end of June 2020, however the resulting impact will be approximately one full quarter of lost revenue. While we expect business activity and gold purchases and exports to return to normal levels there could be future COVID-19 outbreaks requiring new quarantines and business restrictions. As such we will not provide revenue guidance at this time.

Fourth quarter 2019 purchase and sales volumes were negatively impacted by temporary office closures during a period of civil unrest following the November 4, 2019 Bolivian federal election. Purchase and sales volumes eventually returned to normalized, but seasonally lower levels reflecting onset of rainy season and year-end holidays.

Gorden Glenn, CEO commented "2019 operating results were strong and trending higher until November 2019 when we were forced to temporarily cease business operations to ensure the safety of our clients and employees. The impact was a loss of significant revenue and associated trading profits in the fourth quarter which in turn dragged full year results down. Heading into fiscal 2020 we were forecasting another year of strong growth. However, like many businesses, our outlook for 2020 has been negatively impacted by another temporary business closure associated with COVID-19 global pandemic. Our SGM clients were also required to suspend operations but are now slowly restarting gold production. Global physical gold demand remains very strong and business operations are expected to re-start by the end on June 2020. Despite these challenges our outlook for 2020 remains positive and we will work hard to service our small miner clients and international off-takers."
